Annual LIXI Industry Forum – REGISTRATIONS OPEN

14 November

The lending industry has been on a path of transformation for some time now and the pace of change is only increasing; the lending challengers have arrived. Some evolution has been forced on the industry by regulation, however most has occurred through the disruption of the processes due to evolutions in technology combined with the need for constant improvement by the competition.

The 2014 LIXI Industry Forum will focus on innovations in lending and future changes in both secured and unsecured lending in Australia. If you are involved in any part of the lending value chain, the LIXI Industry Forum is an event that you should most certainly attend.

The Annual LIXI Forum will be held in Sydney on Friday, November 14th. Entry is free for any employee of a LIXI Member organisation, however you must register your attendance.

LIXI Standards Survey

LIXI is updating its database and is keen to understand which version, or versions, of the LIXI standards licence holders are using. This information will help us gauge the patronage of each version and will be used to budget ongoing maintenance and support for each version in use.

Please take a moment to complete this short survey. Users will need to log into the LIXI website in order to submit a response (and will therefore need to be LIXI members and/or licencees). To participate in this survey, please visit this webpage.

Backchannel Working Group

The backchannel working group is currently active and is collecting requirements to improve and extend backchannel status messages. Please email LIXI if your organisation would like to be involved in this phase of development.
